GOLF.GOLF SURVEY

Golf is played by more than 66 million people across the world. The sport has enjoyed a significant increase in popularity worldwide since 2016 with over five-and-a-half million additional golfers taking it up. As we seek to attract more people of all ages, genders, backgrounds and abilities into the game, The R&A is at the forefront of modernising the sport and making it more accessible and welcoming to all.

The R&A is keen to have a greater understanding about the beginner programmes that are operated at golf facilities in Scotland, and what the impact of the Golf.Golf initiative (if applicable) has been so far. Even if your facility does not offer beginner programmes at the moment, we still want to hear from you!

The findings from this research will help The R&A and Scottish Golf to build on and develop the support they offer to golf facilities across Scotland and beyond.

ABOUT THE SURVEY

This survey is being carried out on behalf of The R&A by independent sports research agency, Sporting Insights.

The information you share will remain confidential and anonymous, and only aggregated data will be analysed.

Your valued input will provide The R&A with a greater understanding of how they can provide appropriate resources to better support our federations and golf facilities in the journey to ensure golf remains thriving in 50 years.
